Mums and dads asked to volunteer as lollipop patrol
amid recruitment freeze

PARENT PLEA

By Lucy Purdy

PARENTS in Haringey are being asked to volunteer to help children cross busy roads on their way to school as council chiefs issue a recruitment freeze on lollipop ladies and men.

Facing a multi-million-pound budget squeeze, council bosses have taken David Cameron's idea of a Big Society and are calling on parents to volunteer to help children get safely to and from school.

The council employs 20 lollipop men and women but will not be able to recruit any more following budget cuts. The schools which currently have a vacancy are Highgate Primary, Rokesly Infants, Stroud Green Primary, Hornsey School for Girls and St Mary's Junior School.

Councillor Nilgun Canver, cabinet member for neighbourhoods, said: "We want to work with schools on a trial basis to see whether parents would be willing to volunteer to be school-crossing patrol officers for between two and ten times a week.

"We receive many requests from parents to recruit more school-crossing patrol officers and we would like to tap into this passion.

"We recognise the importance of school-crossing patrols in encouraging safe and sustainable travel to school. Given the budgetary pressures, we are looking to encourage parents or carers of pupils to volunteer."

The work would be for one hour in the morning and an hour in the afternoon during school terms but could be shared by a group of parents rather than one parent carrying out the role.

Schools are asked to submit the names of any interested parents to Haringey's transport department.

MUCH-NEEDED cash will be transferred from public nurseries and schools to the private sector in Haringey under a new funding model for free childcare, teaching leaders have warned.

Union chiefs and headteachers have "deep concerns" that a new way of distributing money for teaching pre-school children in the borough will be redirected from the more to the less needy, leaving Haringey's poorest and most vulnerable children out in the cold.

As much as £750,000 could be shifted from the maintained sector - including nursery classes in primary schools, nursery schools and children's centres - to the private sector and, therefore, transfer money from the most deprived areas in the east of the borough to the most wealthy parts in the west.

This is because there are many more privately run nursery places in the east of Haringey and runs counter to government ministers' stated aims.

The Early Years Single Funding Formula (EYSFF) was introduced to ensure nurseries get fair recompense for the free places the government insisted they must offer to three and four-year-olds. Billed as more "transparent and consistent", the one-pot formula was particularly designed to encourage children from disadvantaged families to receive their due hours.

But many, including Steve Worth of the Haringey Schools Forum, have said they believe the new system will have the opposite effect in Haringey. In a letter penned to Department For Education chiefs and both Haringey MPs, Mr Worth said: "The geographical characteristics and history of early years provision in Haringey, combined with the relatively low pupil funding we receive, will inevitably lead to resources being directed from the more to the less needy."

"The Forum fully supports the intention, but cannot support the resulting redistribution of already scarce resources from nursery classes and schools."

And a document drafted by Haringey Council officers to consider the effects of the new formula also contains cause for concern. It reads: "The overall impact of the implementation of the EYSFF will be to invest a greater proportion of resources in private voluntary initiative settings and significantly reduce funding to maintained nursery schools."

"The current proposal for the allocation of resources through the EYSFF model proposed is likely to widen the gap between communities."

The government was forced to delay the new funding model by a year because authorities were not ready for the change. It will be rolled out in April. news.haringey@nlhnews.co.uk

OFFICERS launched dawn raids across Haringey in a bid to tackle the organised criminal gangs "blighting" the borough.

The hard-hitting Operation Craven snared 13 people who are suspected to be involved in gangs masterminding pickpocketing and benefit-fraud rings. Officers from Haringey joined forces with colleagues from the Metropolitan Police's Safer Transport Command and Haringey Council to carry out search warrants at 23 addresses.

Haringey's acting borough commander, Superintendent Chris Barclay, said: "The operation is designed to clamp down on the criminal networks blighting Haringey and the surrounding boroughs. Our intelligence exposed gangs involved in pickpocketing and benefit fraud. Their actions have a huge impact on our community and this operation has stopped them in their tracks."

Dawn raids crack down on organised criminal gangs

North London Link Commander Simon Pountain added: "The results are the culmination of a meticulously planned operation and highlight the commitment of the Met. We continue to disrupt and arrest those involved in this type of criminality."

The team made the following arrests...

- Man, 29, at an address in Woodside Gardens, Tottenham, suspicion of breaching a court order
- Man, 30, at an address in Rosebery Avenue, Tottenham, on suspicion of possession of class-B drugs
- Man, 28, in Mount Pleasant Road, Tottenham, abstracting electricity
- Man, 18, and woman, 35, in Carlingford Road, Tottenham, on suspicion of handling stolen goods

Teenagers' fury as council boss spurns appeal to save centre

YOUNG people in Haringey have accused a council finance chief of "disrespecting" and lying to them over proposed cuts to their beloved youth centres.

Members of the Save Haringey's Youth Services campaign have penned a letter to Haringey Council cabinet member for finance and sustainability, Councillor Joe Goldberg, in which they accuse him of ignoring their pleas to save the clubs.

Wide-ranging cuts look likely to mean the closure of many of the borough's youth centres as well as the scaling back of programmes designed to help troubled teens.

The group wrote: "It stuns us why we have not been able to enter into an honest and transparent dialogue about your plans. We may be young people, most of us not of voting age, but we still deserve respect. We have fought a hard campaign using your rules of democracy with our inexperience already leaving us at a disadvantage, a fact it feels you were aware of and obviously have taken advantage of."

"We as young people from your constituency, offspring of your voters, feel extremely let down that you are elected to represent local concerns yet have disregarded the voice of local people. We feel that the consultation you offered has no sincerity and are very saddened that what we thought was a joint mutually respected relationship is no more than a cheap political tactic."

Dominic Green, 17, told the Advertiser why he felt moved to protest against cuts. He said: "Last year, when I first came to Bruce Grove Youth Centre, it gave me a lot of opportunities over the summer holidays to keep me out of trouble. So I want everyone to have the same opportunities I had."

The group, which includes members of the Bruce Grove Youth Centre, The Muswell Hill Youth Club and the Wood Green Youth Centre, has collected more than 2,000 signatures on a petition and met with decision-makers, including Councillor Goldberg as well as London mayor Boris Johnson, in December last year.

Mr Goldberg said: "Young people are correct to raise their concerns. This, in common with many other services, is highly valued and which makes a difference. I want their voices to be heard, which is why we are consulting on the proposals and why I have met with young people face-to-face."

"No final decisions have been taken."

Eloquent: Dominic Green and other youngsters penned a letter expressing their dismay that their efforts had been undermined

Police concern for Kermith after he goes missing

AN ELDERLY man from Tottenham who suffers from a range of serious illnesses has gone missing after being treated at hospital last week.

Police officers say they are concerned for the wellbeing of 73-year-old Kermith Samuda who was reported missing from the North Middlesex University Hospital in Sterling Way, Edmonton.

He attended the hospital's accident and emergency department to receive treatment for a minor injury at around 3.20pm on January 26. Mr Samuda is from south Tottenham, about 5ft 4ins tall and walks with a limp.

He has no known next of kin and no mobile phone, money or bus pass on him.

Mr Samuda suffers from epilepsy, high blood pressure and also has a heart condition.

Police believe he may become confused and agitated because he is not thought to have taken any medicine since he went missing.

Officers said he has gone missing before but are now growing increasingly concerned for his welfare due to his medical condition and lack of medication.

Anyone with information should contact the Haringey Missing Person Unit on 020 8345 1809 or Missing People on 0500 700 700.

Empty house to be auctioned off

A FLAT in Tottenham which has lain empty for almost two decades will be sold at auction to claw thousands of pounds back in tax-payers' money.

The property, a large flat in Talbot Road, had been vacant for 17 years and was the subject of nearly £13,000 in unpaid council which was owed to Haringey Council. Now council bosses hope it will be sold on in an auction at McHugh's Auctioneers, based in Camden, on February 22 and brought back into use.

It is the seventh property auctioned by the authority as part of its enforced sales programme which aims to return vacant home into use as well as recover unpaid council tax.

So far, 29 properties with a debt totalling nearly £180,000 have been identified across Haringey.

To find out more, contact the council's Empty Homes Officer Anoma Amarajeewa on 020 8489 4214. For information about the auction, visit www.mchughandco.com

Views welcomed on new rules for rogue landlords

RESIDENTS in Haringey are being asked their views on plans to come down more heavily on greedy and unscrupulous landlords who rent out dangerous properties.

People living in the ward and some surrounding roads, together with landlords and agents, are being consulted on plans to bring in stricter controls before privately rented homes can be occupied by large numbers of tenants.

Haringey Council bosses are thinking of bringing in stricter controls over shared houses and houses which are converted into flats after a survey found that 50 per cent of all converted buildings, and 70 per cent of shared accommodation in the area did not comply with legal standards. Fire precautions, security and property management were the most common failures but associated problems of rubbish and furniture being dumped, as well as noise and other anti-social behaviour issues were also found to be commonplace.

John Bevan, cabinet member for housing, said: "Illegal conversions of some of the larger houses in the area and the associated problems these create are causing difficulties for many local people. That's why we are consulting on taking increased powers to clamp down on this type of activity – and I hope as many residents as possible will let us have their views."

Among the proposals is a financial incentive for landlords to keep their properties up to scratch – something which was welcomed by Ian Sygrave, chairman of the Haringey Ladder Community Safety

Safety concerns: Greedy landlords can overfill properties

Partnership. He told the Advertiser: "There are good and bad landlords but there is enough of a problem for the council to decide to consult. People are jumping up and down to fill in the form – it is excellent news."

"The beauty of the scheme which is proposed is that there would be a carrot-and-stick approach – a real incentive for landlords to sharpen up their acts. We would encourage anyone who has had a problem with a bad landlord, neighbour or near neighbour, to fill in the form."

Residents, landlords and agents have until March 7 to complete the survey which covers the whole of Haringey ward, as well as Salisbury Road and parts of Turnpike Lane and Green Lanes.

Tragedy: The blue plaque marks the spot where a ten-year-old boy was shot dead

Blue plaque up for Tottenham Outrage victim

A PLAQUE has been unveiled at the spot where a ten-year-old boy was murdered more than 100 years ago during an infamous tragedy which became known as the Tottenham Outrage.

Residents gathered outside the Church Of The Good Shepherd, in Mitchley Road, earlier this month to remember schoolboy Ralph Joscelyne who was shot dead by two pistol-wielding Latvian robbers trying to escape after a wages snatch in 1909. Ralph died alongside police constable William Tyler amid an almost-far-fical bid to flee justice involving the criminals commandeering a tram, milk van and greengrocer's vehicle before eventually being caught.

Janet Harris, who lives nearby and who wrote a book called Outrage: An Edwardian Tragedy ten years ago, told the Advertiser why Ralph's death should be remembered. She said: "I think it is very important to remember what happened on that day because it changed British history in so many different ways. It had repercussions with regards to immigrants in the country and also reverberated in terms of the legislation around firearms.

"The little boy was shot just outside the church and died on the spot. There is already a plaque at Tottenham police station to remember the police officer who died so I felt it was important to remember Ralph too."

The Outrage became known in Edwardian society with thousands of people lining the route of the murdered policeman's funeral procession. The plaque's unveiling was also attended by Shaun Nettle, a direct descendant of Ralph's.

Police film aims to educate teens on murder laws

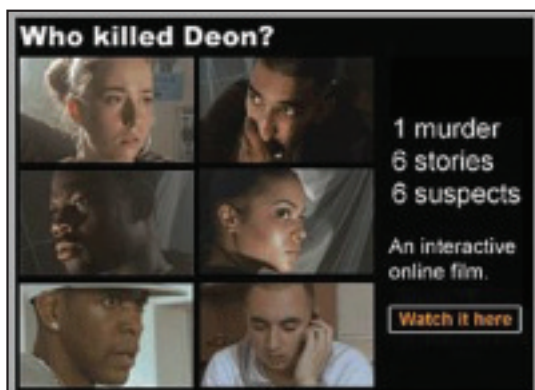

A FILM depicting a brutal stabbing designed by police to teach young people about the law around murder has been distributed in Haringey.

The Who Killed Deon? video was previously released on social networking websites Facebook and YouTube and designed to warn youngsters of the risks of getting involved in weapons. It is set at a party and shows the character of Deon suddenly dropping to the floor with blood seeping through his clothes. Viewers are asked to choose who is responsible.

But the "whodunnit" theme has a twist – five of the characters are in fact guilty of murder. The message is that, under the law of joint enterprise, people can be charged with murder if their presence, knowledge or actions leads to a killing.

The video's introduction reads: "You don't have to pull the trigger or stab somebody to be charged with murder. It could be supplying the weapon or driving the killer to the crime scene knowing that something bad is going to happen."

"Always think about company – who you're with and what their intentions are, the choices you

Message: The film alerts teens to their responsibilities

make and the consequences of not making the right decision."

The video has been distributed in ten boroughs which are considered priorities for tackling youth and gang crime. People aged between 13–15 in Hackney, Lambeth, Newham, Southwark, Waltham Forest, Lewisham, Westminster, Brent and Tower Hamlets are also being targeted.

The legal concept of joint enterprise has already been used by Met detectives to convict entire groups of people for their involvement in murder, including in the case of Ben Kinsella in 2008.

Commander Simon Foy, head of the Met's homicide and serious crime command, said: "The hope is that once young people appreciate the way the law operates, they will think twice about their involvement with groups and gangs before any trouble starts."

Man jailed after antique map theft

A THIEF from Wood Green who stole six maps from a museum in Enfield in a "calculated and brazen" theft has been jailed for 15 months.

Gary Doyle, 54, of Lascotts Road, was arrested by officers from the Met Police's art and antiques unit in Palmers Green on November 25 last year. Detectives were investigating the theft of a replica Tudor helmet which had been stolen from the National Army Museum's Making Of Britain gallery in October. Just two days later officers were notified of a second break-in at the Forty Hall Museum in Enfield where six maps of Middlesex were stolen.

Eager to make a quick profit, Doyle travelled into central London and tried to sell the antique maps. But the dealer he approached became suspicious and failed to believe Doyle's story that they belonged to a relative. Doyle left without being able to sell them on. After viewing CCTV from the museums and map dealers, police officers linked the two thefts.

Detective Constable Michelle Roycroft said: "Doyle's charge demonstrates how by working closely with the museums and trade organisations we will combat thieves."

Councillor Bambos Charalambous, cabinet member for leisure and culture at Enfield Council, said: "Stealing maps, art pieces and published materials from museums robs many people and future generations of the chance to see and learn about their local heritage."

"If anybody knows anything about the maps please could they contact the museum service at the council."

KEBLE SCHOOL

Keble is pleased to offer
ALL-ROUNDER BURSARIES
for boys joining Year 3 in September

Keble School is a small, friendly and caring prep school located in Winchmore Hill. We are offering bursaries of up to 100% of fees for boys who can be considered good "all-rounders". We provide a broad curriculum and the intention is to offer places to boys from families who could not normally afford independent education.

The bursaries will be means tested and subject to entrance exams and an interview.

For an application form, please contact Mr J R Field, school bursar, on 020 8360 3359 or by email to jfield@kebleprep.co.uk

Circus act rings to the sound of music

THE latest circus company to grace the stage at Jacksons Lane doesn't care much for words. But, when they do have to use the odd one, they like to have fun with them.

Yalla Yalla is a Hebrew word taken from Arabic which is slang for, "Get on with it", while the unusual company title – Pan Gottic – is a combination of founders' names, Matt Pang and Revital Gottshalk.

"We might have one, or no more than two words in the show," said Matt, taking a break from rehearsing their "work in progress". "But we hope to use no more than that as we focus entirely on the visual and the musical."

Inspired by silent comedy films, Matt and Revital have created a series of sketches that blend circus with physical theatre as musician and composer Vid Warren takes care of the musical side with a mixture of live music and beat boxing.

"It's very tightly choreographed and we'll be performing in time to Vid's sound effects," said Matt.

"There will be no direct narrative but more of a sketch show with

Clowning around: Yalla Yalla is inspired by silent comedy films contemporary circus routines and a lot of physical theatre.

"At the moment we're trying to put everything together so it might change a little by the time it reaches the stage at Jacksons Lane."

● Yalla Yalla is performed by Pan Gottic at Jacksons Lane in Archway Road, Highgate, this Friday and Saturday at 8pm. Tickets cost £8. For more details and reservations call the box office on 020 8341 4421.

Out and about

● CLUB Senseless returns to Crouch End this Friday. Actually, it never really left as the party night continues its first Friday of the month residency, Downstairs at the King's Head in Crouch End Hill. Ronnie and the Rex and a host of top comics perform from 9pm onwards and tickets cost £10 (£8 concessions). For more details and reservations call the box office on 020 8340 1028.

● AN Evening of Comedy Songs and Ballads from contemporary musical theatre is the delightful proposition in Highgate this Sunday. Nothing To Do With Love will be performed by the Sunday Night Singers, Upstairs at the Gatehouse in Highgate Village from 7.30pm. Tickets cost £12 (£10 concs) and for reservations call the box office on 020 8340 3488.

● LAS Vegas legend, and the last original member of the Rat Pack, comes to the Millfield Arts Centre next Thursday. Buddy Greco, the star of 68 albums, performs some of the songs which made him famous in this swinging tribute to an impressive career. His show takes place at the Edmontown venue and starts at 8pm. Tickets cost £18 (£16 concs). For more details call the box office on 020 8807 6680.

Affordable homes show in Greenwich

The South East London Affordable Homes Show, which will promote over 500 affordable homes for sale, will be held in Greenwich later this month (February).

The show will take place on Saturday 19th February 2011 at the Queen Mary Room, Old Royal Naval College, Greenwich, between 11am and 4pm.

The South East London Affordable Homes Show, a free event hosted by Housing Options, will bring together major affordable housing providers operating in London including L&Q, Affinity Sutton, Family Mosaic, Moat, In Place, Wandle and Southern Housing, all of which will offer affordable properties across the capital.

As well as information about local schemes, Londoners will be able to find out more about products such as New Build HomeBuy and Rent to HomeBuy. These products provide high quality homes to anyone earning up to £60,000.

Would-be home buyers who qualify and earn between £14,000 and £60,000 will be offered the opportunity to potentially secure an affordable home at this year's Housing Options Show, with various deals on offer, including a selection of part buy, part rent, shared housing initiatives, with a minimum share typically starting from 25 per cent.

Some housing providers operating such as L&Q will actually offer opportunity to view – via a free shuttle bus service - nearby property developments such as The Artillery, Shooters Hill, where one, two and three bedroom properties are available starting from £180,000 with a minimum 25 per cent share being £45,000.

Nic Bealey, L&Q Director of Sales & Marketing, said: "The show is a great chance for Londoners to find out about affordable home ownership opportunities in the South East. More and more people are realising there are affordable and attractive alternatives to buying their first home on the open market. At Housing Options we have seen unprecedented levels of interest over the last year both online and at events."

People who are trying to get a foot on the property ladder but are unable to attend the event, can log on and register their details at www.housingoptions.co.uk

Alternatively, simply log on to www.whatshouse.co.uk where you will find a selection of new and affordable homes for sale.

To find out if you are eligible for an affordable home, log-on to www.whatshouse.co.uk.

The website, dedicated to the new and affordable housing sector, has a comprehensive list of new and affordable homes for sale.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
 (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
 (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers

Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.

Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category

All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection

The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will not use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.

Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.

Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

SPURS LOOK TO BOUNCE BACK

By Dominique Stafford

DEFENDER Sebastien Bassong has urged Tottenham Hotspur to bounce back from their FA Cup humiliation at Fulham by securing a positive result in tonight's Premier League clash at Blackburn Rovers.

Spurs saw their last realistic chance of domestic silverware come to an end on Sunday as they crashed to a 4-0 defeat at Fulham in the fourth round of the FA Cup – with all four goals coming during a first half which saw the side concede two penalties and have Michael Dawson sent off.

Dawson's suspension, coupled with Younes Kaboul's knee injury and the continued absence of Ledley King and Jonathan Woodgate, means that Bassong is almost certain to start tonight, and the Cameroon international insists that Spurs must go all out for maximum points.

"It was a bad day for us at Fulham and we have to forget it and move on," he said. "We now have to go up to Blackburn and try to win that game. We have no choice."

"We've showed already that we have character in this team, and now we have to do it again."

"We killed ourselves on Sunday, we made bad mistakes and it cost us the game. It was difficult to come back from two penalties and a red card. We did everything wrong."

Meanwhile, the transfer deadline passed with no further additions to the Tottenham squad after a last-gasp multi-million pound bid for Blackpool's sought-after midfielder Charlie Adam proved to be unsuccessful.

Manager Harry Redknapp said: "We pushed on and tried to do it, Daniel [chairman Levy] was confident he could get it through. It went to the wire but we missed out by minutes."

"I think the boy was definitely up for coming, but apparently the chairman couldn't get hold of two shareholders who had to sign the forms as well. It's just one of those things."

Spurs also failed in their attempts to bring in a new striker, while an offer for Everton skipper Phil Neville was rejected.

However, Robbie Keane has moved to West Ham United on loan until the end of the season, with the deal likely to become permanent in the summer if the Hammers avoid the drop.

Rallying call: Sebastien Bassong is targeting a win at Blackburn

Borough pay a heavy price for their slow start

HARINGEY BOROUGH were forced to pay the price for making a slow start as they suffered an undeservedly heavy 5-1 defeat at Hanwell Town in the Spartan Premier Division on Saturday.

The visitors were left with a mountain to climb after falling 3-0 behind inside the first 20 minutes, with goals from Blaise O'Brien and Grant Kemp (two) putting Hanwell in complete control.

Borough were able to raise their game and put the hosts under considerable pressure, eventually pulling a goal back through a Daniel Ailey header two minutes into the second half.

An unlikely comeback began to look even more of a possibility with 20 minutes remaining when Hanwell's Joe Hatcher was dismissed for kicking out at Ailey.

But Borough were unable to make their extra man count and any hope they had of getting back into the match ended when the ball appeared to hit Michael Buckley on the shoulder and looped up into the net to give Hanwell a fourth goal.

Worse was to follow for the visitors on 75 minutes, as Connor Duffy made a fine run down the right to send over a fierce low cross from the byline which Nick Nicou could only turn into the roof of his own net as he desperately attempted to clear.

Haringey Borough go to Kentish Town tonight (7.45pm), before hosting Leverstock Green on Saturday (3pm).
